Ordinary Life

The single most important thing Christianity could do to completely renew itself would be to reclaim the Gospel of Thomas on an equal footing with the present canonical gospels for liturgical use, study and sacred proclamation. It would completely revolutionize our understanding of the religion we think we know so well.

Ordinary Life

The Gospel of Thomas is important because -

Perennial Tradition.

The religion of Jesus, not about Jesus.

Practices to undertake.

Belief alone won't get anyone to "oneness."

We are working on a shift
from

“Believing in”

To

“Digging in”

The role of tradition and/
or sacred texts in all wise
and useful religions

Specific practices for growth in non-dual mind

The sky and all that lies in the dimensions above it will cease to exist.

The dead know nothing of life,
and the living will never die.

When you consume that which is already dead, you are turning it back into life.

So, then, when you too emerge
back into the Light,
what will you do?

For on the day when you
were created one,
you also became two,
but when you come to realize your
twoness again,
what will you do?

Jesus was a _____ mystic.

Ordinary Life

Jesus was a ferwish mystic.

Ordinary Life

Christianity isn't a failure.

It just hasn't been tried yet!

A person of advanced age must go immediately and ask an infant born just seven days about life's source.
Such asking leads to life when what is first becomes last.
United they become a single whole.

What Jesus taught was the importance of staying connected and being whole.

Ordinary Life

The most dangerous man, to any government, is the man who is able to think things out for himself... Almost inevitably, he comes to the conclusion that the government he lives under is dishonest, insane, and intolerable.

~ H. L. Mencken

Ordinary Life

Penetrating so many secrets, we cease to believe in the unknowable. But there it sits nevertheless, calmly licking its chops.

Mysticism is an experiential knowledge of the spiritual.

May we be willing to be Divinely Entangled.
