STARVING THE HUNGRY GHOST

Ordinary Life

Two will be resting on a bed.
One will die,
the other will live.

Salome said,
“Then how is it, sir, that you,
coming from the one Source,
have rested on my couch
and eaten at my table?”

“I am he who has appeared to you
out of the Realm of Unity,
having been granted that which belongs to my Father, its Source.”

“I will be your student!” she exclaimed.

“Then I say this to you,
if you become whole
you will be full of Light.
If you remain fragmented darkness will fill you.”

Ordinary Life

The only one who truly knows knows that he or she does not know.

Ordinary Life

Most people would actually prefer “satisfying untruth” to “unsatisfying truth.”

In an effort to feed the “hungry ghost” we fall into two heresies -

“silliness”

“certitude”

Only Presence and Inquiry
can take us in the direction of Life.

Ordinary Life

“Seek what you are seeking -
but don't seek it where you are seeking it.”
